Actor Humphrey Bogart, 57, Is Cancer Victim

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Actor Humphrey Bogart, 57, veteran movie tough guy and one of Hollywood's most colorful characters, died at home of cancer today with his wife, actress Lauren Bacall, at his bedside.

The academy-award winning actor, who had been operated upon a year ago for throat cancer, succumbed during a coma at 4:10 a.m. (CST) Dr. Maynard Bransma said.

A spokesman for the family said funeral services would be conducted Thursday.

His sole immediate survivor is his sister, Frances Rose Bogart. Bogart was still talking to "everybody Saturday night," Dr. Bransma said. "Sunday morning he went into a coma. He went to sleep and just didn't wake up."

"Early this morning he took a deep breath and died."

The doctor said Bogart was a victim specifically of carcinoma, a general spread of the original cancer.

"Bogey," as the actor was nicknamed, had turned 57 last Christmas day.

The end for the lovable, academy award-winning actor came at his Holmby Hills home where he had been recuperating from a hospital stay he took last month in an effort to alleviate pain from scar tissue formed after an operation for throat cancer a year ago.

His doctor said he had been "in some pain for the last few weeks."

His actress-wife said she preferred that no flowers be sent to the funeral but that contributions be made to the American Cancer Society instead.

British Right Wing Group Gains Power

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (UP) — The right wing of the Conservative party emerged today with a dominant voice in the government of Britain's new Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Widespread predictions that Macmillan's Cabinet appointments would toss a sop to British and foreign critics of former Prime Minister Eden's Suez military adventure failed to materialize.

The 18-man Cabinet announced today was made up largely of familiar faces. The new prime minister even retained John Selwyn Lloyd, an architect of the Suez invasion, as foreign secretary.

It had been generally believed Lloyd was marked for dismissal because of the Suez venture's adverse diplomatic consequences.

Richard Austen Butler, Macmillan's chief rival for the prime ministership, was reappointed government leader in the House of Commons and lord privy seal and given the additional post of home secretary. Butler was one of the few top men in the Cabinet who was cool to Eden's Suez policies.

Another forthright supporter of the Suez campaign, Peter Thorneycroft, was promoted from president of the Board of Trade to the key post of chancellor of the exchequer, Macmillan's old job.

Macmillan dropped five of Eden's Cabinet ministers. One was Defense Minister Anthony Head, whose ministry carried out the Suez invasion.

The reappointment of Lloyd stirred up the greatest controversy. The Liberal News-Chronicle said it would be "read as militant unrepentance over Suez."

The Laborite Daily Herald said Lloyd's reappointment in a slap at the Conservative party moderates "and at word opinion." It added:

Sees Test in Middle East With Commies

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the Middle East may present "the decisive test in the struggle between communism and freedom."

And he said, Communist leaders "will take every risk they dare to take" to win.

"I do not say that this is the last test, although it could well be the decisive test," Dulles told a joint session of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

"When the stakes are so great," he continued, "I do not believe the Congress of the United States should play, or wants to play, merely the role of an observer. It possesses assets, perhaps, decisive assets to throw into the struggle."

Dulles was before the senators, in an open hearing, to seek a report for the administration's request for standby authority for President Eisenhower to use troops to counter any Soviet aggression in the Middle East.

Eisenhower also seeks authority for economic and military support for free nations in that area.

Last week, in testimony to the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Dulles said the Middle East "is very likely to be left" unless Congress gives the administration swiftly the special powers it has asked.

African Doctor Nearest Thing to Saint on Earth

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (UP) — If there is a saint new living on earth, many feel it is a gentle giant of the mind and heart who dwells deep in Africa and will be 82 years old today.

He is Albert Schweitzer, a strange multiple-genius who, following a mystic sense of self-dedication, left Europe in 1913 to found a hospital at Lambarene in French Equatorial Africa.

Even then he was famous as a philosopher, theologian, historian, and world renowned organist. His work as a medical missionary added to his stature. So did his massive "Philosophy of Civilization" written, ironically, in a jungle clearing at night when his hospital chores were done.

But his ultimate immortality rests on a three-word creed he hung into the face of the most murderous generation the human race has produced, his insistence on a "reverence for life."

Dr. Schweitzer, famed among scholars, remained to the man in the street little more than a legendary figure in far off Africa. But in 1950 a group of leading artists, writers and musicians of 17 countries acclaimed Dr. Schweitzer as "The Man of the Century." In 1952 he was awarded the Nobel award for peace.

Accepting the $33,200 prize, which he applied toward improving housing for 250 lepers in his hospital, the sturdy, buffalo-moustached doctor explained his philosophy in these words:

Would Abolish County School Supervisors

LITTLE ROCK (UP) Rep. J. H. Cottrell, Jr., of Pulaski county today introduced a bill signed to abolish the office of county school supervisor.

The piece of legislation followed the initial bill, the House Appropriation bill which called for a total of $340,285.

Cottrell's bill called for the duties of the county school supervisor to be transferred to the school superintendents of the various school districts.

It passed as submitted, it would become effective July 1, 1957.

The revised program is in line with a new Defense Department policy of emphasizing quality rather than quantity in military reserve forces. This is a shift from the 1955 Reserve Act, designed to produce a 2.9-million-man "ready" reserve by 1959.

The new Army program takes effect April 1. It provides that youths who enlist in Army reserves or National Guard units must take a minimum of six months' active duty training.

Higher only youths enlisting in the Army Reserve were required to take six months of active duty training. This was followed by 7½ years in the "ready" reserve. National Guard members could volunteer for six months active duty but were not required to take it.

The referral of the 5-million-dollar annual budget represented a defeat for those who favored adoption since the council has given its approval to the proposed budgets of almost every other state agency and department.

Rep. Paul VaZn Dalsem of Perry County objected strongly to the Medical Center's proposed budget declaring that it was costing the state $100,000 to graduate one doctor.

Proponents of the budget argued there were other considerations such as the value of the hospital care received by indigent patients.

A proposal to make a "paper" dollars of Medical Center money annually to the Welfare Department so matching federal funds could be obtained also will be taken up by the Budget Committee.

Czechs Claim Hungarians Return

LONDON (UP) — The Czechoslovak official news agency said today 10,000 Hungarian refugees have returned to Hungary from Austria and other Western countries in the last five weeks.

The Czech broadcast monitored here said 70 to 80 refugees are returning to Hungary each day.

India Completes Six Mile Dam

HIRAKUD DAM, India, (UP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru lit up the world's longest dam with six miles of multi-colored floodlights last night to mark the end of centuries of flood and famine in the area of Orissa states.

The six-mile-long electric power dam has tamed the Mahanadi river which for hundreds of years has overflowed its banks annually, flooding farmland and bringing starvation to the valley.

6 Months Active Duty for New Guardsmen

WASHINGTON (UP) The Army today defied strong opposition from the National Guard and ordered compulsory six months active duty training for all new guardsmen.

Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker announced that the new policy will become effective on April 1. He said it had been recommended by the chief of staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, over the "non-concurring view" of the National Guard Bureau.

The National Guard Association, which speaks for the 405,000 members of guard units in the states and territories, last week denounced the Army training plan.

Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, president of the Guard Association, told a reporter today the Army had the Pentagon "might as well" learn the fact that they have not heard the last word on the issue from the states and that the "Guards" strong opposition will be taken to Congress, where the matter will be settled.

Before starting on his tour, the President attended a closed-door breakfast with farmers, ranchers, businessmen, bankers and local state officials.

He was briefed on effects of the seven years of drought in Texas. He also heard the Texans recommend continuance of the present drought emergency feed and hay programs and a request that the 50 per cent cut in hay freight charges be continued.

On a long-range basis the Texans asked for more liberal and longer loans to hard-pressed farmers and ranchers which would ease them through the drought.

Written summaries of the recommendations developed during a series of grass-roots meetings of farmers, ranchers, businessmen and bankers were given to the President.

Gov. Allan Shivers, who attended the breakfast, did not accompany the President on the drought tour.

Neither the President or any member of his party spoke at the breakfast.

After the tour the President flies to Woodward, Okla., and then to Clevis, N. M. for inspection of drought regions there. He will spend the night at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base at Tucson Ariz., hold another breakfast party there tomorrow morning, then take off for a look at conditions in two more states.

U. S. to Insist on Inspection Disarmament

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) The United States, submitted to the U. N. today a new five-point disarmament plan which would include a ban on further stockpiling of nuclear weapons. I also calls for international control of space missiles.

The program would go into effect, however, only after an iron-clad system of controls and inspections has been established to guard against violations or evasions.

The plan was laid before the General Assembly's 80-nation political committee by Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. as the body opened its general debate on the disarmament problem.

Major points of the proposal were:

1. That an agreement be reached under which all future production of fissile materials shall be stockpiled exclusively for non-military purposes under international inspection.

2. That nuclear test explosions be limited and later banned. If an agreement is reached to control the stockpiling of fissionable materials. Pending such an agreement, the United States would be willing to work out a system for advance notice and limited international observation of such tests.

3. That the armed forces of the United States and the Soviet Union be limited to 2.5 million each, and those of Britain and France to 750,000 each. If the nations concerned can agree on a progressive establishment of an inspection system. This would include aerial inspection, as proposed by President Eisenhower at the summit meeting, and ground inspection at key points, as proposed by Premier Bulganin.

4. That the testing of all space weapons be stopped.

President Now on Tour of Drought Areas

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (UP) — President Eisenhower started his motor tour of nearby drought parched farm and ranch lands at 8:08 a.m. today.

He smiled and waved to the small crowd of mostly military personnel and shook hands with several small boys as photographers' flash bulbs popped.

"Hi, there, young fellow," said the President as he stuck a hand out to David Stricklin 10 and then to his brother Michael, 12.

The boys were taken by surprise and just looked with mouths open as the President shook their hands.

Later David said, "I don't think I'll wash my hand."

"That is the greatest thing that ever happened to me," said Michael.

D. W. Williams, vice chancellor for agriculture of the Texas A&M College system and acting A&M president, and Tom Green County Agent Ed Hyman rode with the President on the swing through 22.6 miles of typical drought-battered range and farm land southeast of here.

Before starting on his tour, the President attended a closed-door breakfast with farmers, ranchers, businessmen, bankers and local state officials.

He was briefed on effects of the seven years of drought in Texas. He also heard the Texans recommend continuance of the present drought emergency feed and hay programs and a request that the 50 per cent cut in hay freight charges be continued.

On a long-range basis the Texans asked for more liberal and longer loans to hard-pressed farmers and ranchers which would ease them through the drought.

Written summaries of the recommendations developed during a series of grass-roots meetings of farmers, ranchers, businessmen and bankers were given to the President.

Gov. Allan Shivers, who attended the breakfast, did not accompany the President on the drought tour.

Senate Eyes Texas-Power in Balance

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) The eyes of the Senate are on Texas, watching for action which can shake or break the precarious Democratic hold on one House of Congress.

Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex.) becomes governor of his state at noon tomorrow. He has submitted his resignation as a senator, effective tomorrow.

Senators are wondering whether retiring Gov. Allan Shivers, an Eisenhower Democrat, will appoint a successor to Daniel pending a special election. They also wonder whether a Shivers appointee would vote with the Republicans or Democrats to organize the Senate.

After the 1958 elections the Democrats held a 49-47 edge in the Senate, counting Daniel.

Senate Republican leaders are prepared to take over control of the Senate whenever they can count 48 votes because they can bank on the tie-breaking vote of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

There is some disagreement among Republicans, however, as to whether they should make that move if it depends on the vote of a temporary appointee from Texas. Under Texas law, a special election must be held within 60 to 90 days to choose a senator for the remaining two years of Daniel's term.

If Texas elects a Democratic senator, as Senate Democratic leaders expect, they would be in a position to recapture control by mid-April or earlier.

Checking precedents, Senate Democrats have concluded that Senate records will show Daniel on the payroll for the entire day tomorrow. Hence a Texas appointee could not be sworn in until Wednesday.

It is conceivable, but unlikely, that Shivers and Daniel both could appoint a senator to the vacancy. The Senate itself would then have to decide whom it should seat.

While denying that they have received any hints Senate Democrats have expected Shivers to appoint a senator who would be available by mid-April.

General Assembly Now in Session; Tax Battle Likely to Start Early

State Records 15 Deaths, Four by Fire

By The Associated Press

A fourth member of a Paragould family died this morning, victim of a fire that destroyed their home Saturday. The death brought to 15 the number of weekend deaths in Arkansas and to 32 the number of violent deaths in the state during the week that ended a midnight Sunday.

One-year-old Edward Ward, one of the two children pushed out of the burning house by his father, Elmo Ward, died of burns.

Edward's brother Richard, 4, the other child shoved out of the burning house was reported in fair condition at a Paragould hospital.

Ward, who apparently ran back into the burning house in a futile attempt to save his wife and a 3-year-old son Wayne, died in the flames with them.

Firemen found Edward and Richard outside the house when they arrived shortly after the blaze started about 5:30 a.m. The house was a mass of flames when firemen arrived.

Cause of the fire was not known. In the 7-day check period, fires and traffic accidents each accounted for 10 deaths.

There were four fatal shootings, two deaths in plane crashes and one death each from a shooting, hanging, a fall from a truck and a road construction mishap.

A 19-year-old girl returning to Arkansas State College at Jonesboro from her home in Missouri was killed yesterday in a highway accident near Lepanto.

The victim was Doris Gifford daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gifford of Senath, Mo.

She was riding in a car driven by Della Sue Blackwood, 18, of Hornersville Mo. The two girls and another Ramona Smith, 19, of Quinn, Mo. were on their way back to the college after spending the weekend at their homes.

State Police said Miss Blackwood's car skidded several hundred feet along state Highway 40 about 1½ miles east of Lepanto.

Miss Gifford was thrown from the car. The other girls were hospitalized with minor injuries at Lepanto.

The body of Marvin C. Gunels about 58, of Magnolia was found in a deserted house yesterday near state Highway 82 about 12 miles east of the south Arkansas town.

Sheriff Claude Linton, who discovered the dead man while looking for the owner of a car parked beside the highway, said Gunels had been shot in the chest and beaten on the head.

A piece of blood-stained lumber was in the house but no other weapon was found, Linton said.

The sheriff said Jack Thomas, 52-year-old farmer who lived in the area, was arrested and held on an open charge in connection with the slaying.

Benj. Downs, 35, of Bradley, was killed yesterday when a car he was driving struck a culvert on state Highway 160 about three miles west of the southwest Arkansas town.

Bill Hook 35-year-old Negro of West Helena, was wounded fatally yesterday by a shotgun blast at a West Helena residence. Deputy Sheriff Claude Linton said.

Death for Hungary Strike Leaders

By CARL HARTMAN

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UP) — Soviet-protected Premier Janos Kadar's regime, hitting back at crippling walkouts and demonstrations, has ordered death within 24 hours for promoters of strikes.

The harsh decree issued yesterday gave another twist to tight controls imposed when martial law was proclaimed Dec. 9. Westerners here, bracketing the new decree with a previous one banning unauthorized public meetings and parades until March 31, said the government obviously fears the people's mood.

Soviet armored cars still prowled the streets of Budapest to back up the government.

The broad anti-strike move provides that anyone "disturbing the activity of a factory by his presence or by any other means" can be brought before a special court and hanged in 24 hours. This extends the authority of these courts, originally set up to handle cases involving murder, looting, arson and the concealment of weapons.

The latest pronouncement authorized death sentences also for anyone found guilty of damaging or endangering public utilities or any other "vital enterprises" — any employing 100 or more workers.

Life imprisonment also may be meted out for these offenses, but "lenient" sentences as 5 to 15 years at hard labor would be given only in limited cases, the decree said.

The court said it had "consistently held that in a conditional sales contract where the seller reserves title to the property until the purchase price is paid, he has either one of two remedies: if the buyer defaults, the seller has the right to follow the claim the property by bringing a separate suit for the price and recover a judgment thereon, or he can repossess the property, but when he does so he thereby cancels the contract of sale and has no other remedy except for re-possession of the article in question."

The court said J. L. Bassett purchased an automobile from Noble Gill Pontiac Inc., of Blytheville, paying $12,557.76 in cash and leaving a balance of $1491.60 to be paid in monthly installments. Gill repossessed the automobile and sold it. After crediting Bassett with the sale price, Gill sued a deficiency of $583.13.

The unanimous Supreme Court opinion upheld a finding of Mississippi Chancery Court, Chickasawba District, that the automobile company could not collect the deficiency.

In a 4-3 decision the Supreme Court affirmed a Miller Chancery Court decree growing out of the domestic difficulties of D. Clark Walls and Pearl Robertson Walls.

Chancellor Wesley Howard denied Mrs. Walls the divorce she sought, holding she had not proven a cause of action against Walls, but gave her custody of the couple's five children, ordered Walls to pay maintenance and to vacate the couple's farm home.

The Supreme Court majority said this left Mrs. Walls in a position comparable to that one to which she would have been entitled if she had proven her allegations against Walls.

Legislature Takes Up Only Routine Matters

LITTLE ROCK (UP) The 81st Arkansas General Assembly, facing almost certain heavy battles over taxes, convened at noon today for a brief meeting that included routine election of officers.

The House convened about two minutes before the Senate to open the biennial 60-day session.

The House and Senate will meet in joint session tomorrow for the inauguration of constitutional officers and to hear Gov. Orval Faubus' second term inaugural address.

Gov. Faubus is expected to unfold his legislative plans for the first time publicly in the address. He reportedly will ask for increases in the sales, severance and income taxes, designed to bring in 22 million additional dollars for the state.

The first order of business was the swearing of the legislators. Chief Justice Carlton Harris administered the oath in the House and Associate Justice Sam Robinson swore in the senate.

As is customary, the first bill, in each house dealt with an appropriation to pay the salaries and expenses of the legislators.

The Senate bill-Senate Bill 1-called

Confusion Over the Middle East

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The leaders of government, past and present, agree something should be done to save the Middle East from Russia. But they don't exactly agree on how. The result is more confusion.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are vague on how to carry out the plan they've offered. Former President Truman backs them, and then adds a tough idea of his own.

Yet former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who helped Truman form his foreign policies, seems in disagreement with Eisenhower and Truman on a basic point and most certainly is in disagreement with Dulles.

The problem shared by the United States and Russia, each of whom wants to keep the Middle East away from the other, is how to win friends and influence people there.

Sometimes lost sight of in the present wide debate on American policy in the Middle East is what the people who live there think of it and whether they want it and, above all, what the Russians think.

Eisenhower proposes using American armed forces to stop any aggression in the area by a Communist or Communist-inspired government against a non-Communist state, if the latter asks for help.

In addition, he wants to give nations in the area both arms and economic aid.

Truman backs this, even though Eisenhower and Dulles have been utterly foggy on how they'll distribute the arms or the aid. But Truman goes them one better:

He says he'd forbid Russia to ship arms to any nation in the area. He seems to forget the Russians and the Arab countries are independent states who like to think they can buy and sell where they please.

This kind of talk from Truman may seem to the Arabs, a simple declaration of intent to treat them as American colonies, although the colonies is exactly what they don't want or they don't want to be.

The Russians, being a huge military power, could hardly be expected to let the United States get away with a ban on Soviet arms shipments, unless they bluff easily.

Truman, judging from what he said yesterday, seems to think the Russians would back down.

Dulles whose job is to explain Eisenhower's policy, on the Middle East, indicated to Congress last week that he was sending American troops to stop "over" Red aggression in the area. President Eisenhower would decide whether Russia was trying to start World War III.

In such a situation, Dulles went on, Eisenhower would decide whether to make an "all-out" attack on the Soviet Union.

This policy at least would call for waiting for Red attack before Americans started to shoot. But Truman's warning to Russia not to sell arms in the area would be a "showdown" before any shooting and, if Russia asserted its sovereignty by selling arms, it would probably lead to World War III.

Acheson, testifying before Truman's statement appeared, recalled even from Dulles' stand and said it appears "obviously like another approach to the brink."

It was a sarcastic reference to a statement by Dulles last year in a magazine that the art of brinkmanship was to get to the brink of war without falling in.

Acheson himself, in his testimony before Congress and in a long article he wrote for the New York Times a week ago, doesn't seem very clear either on the Middle East or on the art of brinkmanship.

were now the secretary. The Russians listened to the discussion of American policy in this country for the past week and then over the weekend gave a warning of their own: that the Eisenhower-Dulles doctrine may lead to "dangerous consequences."

Sheriff Frank Lawton said Eddie Haire, Negro, was jailed on an open charge in connection with the incident.

A Garland County man was killed Saturday when he fell beneath a log truck and a rear wheel passed over him. The victim was Jesse Roy Tillery, 30, of Mountain Valley.

Police said Tillery was riding on the outside of the truck cab when the rear axle broke on a hill about nine miles north of Hot Springs on state Highway 7. Tillery apparently jumped and fell under the vehicle, police said.

A 6-year-old boy died at El Dorado Saturday night of a stomach wound suffered when a .22 caliber rifle accidentally discharged.

The victim was Thomas Edwin Adams, son of Mrs. Rachel Adams. Police said the boy and his 12-year-old brother, Benny Ray Adams, were playing at their home when the older boy stumbled and the rifle he was carrying fired.

dren had indicated they preferred to live with their father, the court gave their formal custody to Walls, leaving the two youngest children with the mother.

The court also set aside the dispossession of Walls from the family home and the maintenance for Mrs. Walls.

The majority opinion was written by Chief Justice Carleton Harris. It was the first he has delivered since he assumed office Jan. 1.

Associate Justices George Rose Smith, Paul Ward and Sam Robinson dissented to the modification of Howard's decree.

The Supreme Court affirmed Phillips Chancery court in giving Helena Rice Drier, Inc. credit for a disputed item of $750 in a controversy with its former principal stockholder, R. E. Harris.

Harris sold his interest in the company in 1951 for $102,000. Harris was to pay all outstanding liabilities of the corporation. The corporation honored the $750 claim over Harris' protest and the suit followed.

In a brief opinion the Supreme Court turned down an appeal of Alma and A. D. Chavis which the court said apparently was the latest effort by the couple to avoid paying a judgment awarded against them in Cleveland Circuit Court.

The court's decision upheld Jefferson Circuit Court in dismissing the Chavis' suit.

Noting that Cleveland Circuit Judge John Golden and two attorneys were among the defendants, the court said, "The complaint contains no prayer for relief and details no acts of misconduct or wrong doing on the part of any defendant."

tion of officers for the two bodies. All went as expected.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas' 61st General Assembly opened for business today, but only routine matters were expected in the initial session.

The major battles were expected to begin after Gov. Orval Faubus presents his second term legislative program in the inaugural speech tomorrow. He reportedly plans to ask for 22 million dollars in additional revenue, most of it from a proposed one per cent increase in the state sales tax.

Faubus has issued consistent "no comments" about his program, although legislators who have conferred with him say that it calls for increases in sales, severance and income taxes to provide more revenue for schools, welfare and charitable institutions such as the State Hospital.

The sales tax, which would provide some 15 million dollars if it is raised from 2 to 3 per cent, apparently is the key issue.

Only a few legislators have expressed opinions on the proposed sales tax increase. Sen. Lee Bearden of Leachville, who will become president pro tempore of the Senate, and Sen. Galtier C. Johnston of Dermott have announced that they will support the tax, while Sen. Gene Lee of Prescott declared that he is "unalterably opposed" to the measure. Sen. Ellis Fagan of Little Rock, senior senator in number of consecutive terms, said that he is opposed to any tax increase "unless further proof" is provided that additional taxes are needed.

Bearden said that he would introduce the sales tax measure and remarked that he had conferred with Faubus.

The oath of office will be administered to Faubus at 11 a. m. tomorrow and he will address a joint session of the House and Senate. New Chief Justice Carleton Harris also will administer the oath of office to Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon, who will preside over the joint session; Secretary of State C. G. Hall, Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, Treasurer J. Vance Clayton and Auditor Jimmy Jones.

Harris and Land Commissioner Sam Jones began their terms on Jan. 1.

Rep. Glenn Walther of Little Rock will be elected speaker of the House. Hal Moody of Little Rock is to be chief clerk.

The secretary of the Senate is former Sen. Arthur M. Shirey Jr. of Lewisville.

The 1955 Legislature killed a bill to increase the sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent in the closing hours of the session before it reached a vote in either house.

A simple majority would be required to raise the sales tax, while a three-fourths majority would be needed to effect an increase in the severance tax.

There also may be an attempt to increase the gasoline tax by one per cent per gallon in order to provide more street-building funds for counties and cities—especially the latter.

A bill on water rights has been prepared and an attempt to limit dog racing—which under present law could be operated almost the year round—may be forthcoming.

That an international inspection and control system be installed progressively to guard against surprise attacks. This would be supervised by an international agency which would be established concurrently with the beginning of the program.

An informed diplomat said Lodge was expected to expand on President Eisenhower's suggestion for an agreement to control space missiles and satellites.

Inspection has been a chief bone of contention in the Disarmament subcommittee's private negotiations. The group set up by the Assembly in 1954 consists of Britain, Canada, France, the Soviet Union and the United States.

The Western Powers with the United States taking the lead have been pushing for a series of conferences to check on disarmament.

What is he really like? The world will soon be able to see how he works and lives, in a biography, filmed by Erica Anderson, a Vienna-born photographer, and produced by Jerome Hill, grandson of James J. Hill, the railway titan.

Mrs. Anderson got the idea of filming Dr. Schweitzer for posterity back in 1948. She wrote him. The suggestion of a movie of his life so shocked the modest missionary that it wasn't until three years later he let her visit the hospital.

It took another year to win permission to make the film, four more years to do the actual filming and overcome Dr. Schweitzer's wish that the film remain unshown until after his death. "He gave way finally," said Mrs. Anderson, "only because he cannot bear to have anyone unhappy he knows of and can help. His veneration for life is such that rather than cut down a tree that is in the way he will have it transplanted. It even bothers him but as a physician he must destroy bacteria, even though he recognizes that higher forms of life take precedence.

"He lives with utmost simplicity. His favorite food is onion soup. He hasn't smoked since he was 26 nor does he take hard liquor. Once, while he was visiting America, a lady insisted, 'Oh one cocktail in your life won't hurt you.' And he took the glass politely and said 'very well' then—the one cocktail in his lifetime."

"Every morning he cleans the antelope pens himself. He believes in doing things with your own hands."

"He is, in a way, oddly old-fashioned. His mind is of this century but he dresses and looks like the last century."

"He doesn't like to ride in cars and never has been in an airplane. He has seen only three or four movies in his life."

"But he is aware of everything going on in the outside world. He writes, longhand, 20 to 40 letters every night. He has no secretary and won't let anyone reply to a letter for him. He dislikes telegrams."

"He likes particularly to keep in touch with young people, and tells them that, instead of growing pessimistic as they age, they should grow into a deeper idealism."

"He travels third class on trains and once, when he was asked why he was traveling third class, he said simply, 'because there is no fourth class.'"

Schweitzer's birthday will be celebrated at the hospital where he, three doctors, and eight nurses care for 500 to 600 native patients. Mrs. Anderson said "it will be just as if it were any member of the staff's birthday. He doesn't like to be fussed over."

"But a half hour before breakfast a group of the natives and the staff will gather and sing to him. At breakfast small hand-made presents will be put by his plate. As the bell ending breakfast rings, he will rise and say, 'Well, I have one year less. Come! That means we must get to work quicker!'"

Kay Kendall
Finally Lured to Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) They finally succeeded in luring Kay Kendall to Hollywood.

A delicious Yorkshire pudding is Kay. Also Shapely. Also independent.

She scored a bit hit with American audiences as the trumpet-toting beauty in "Genevieve." Later she starred with Robert Taylor in "Quentin Durward" filmed in England.

Efforts to bring her here always failed. I asked her why. "Maybe it's because I wasn't particularly interested in films," she said. "I've always gotten much more fun out of doing plays."

But producer Sol Siegel is a persistent man. He's the fellow who lined up Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly and Frank Sinatra for "High Society." He was determined to hire Kay for the role of an English showgirl in "Las Girls."

He tried to sign her up for the picture last summer, but she preferred to remain in New York. The reason? Well, the gossip column is a certain English actor appearing in a certain Broadway hit. Let's face it—Rex Harrison.

Kay made all kinds of demands of Siegel, including the right to return to New York for a week after five weeks of work. To her surprise, the producer agreed to everything.

So here she is, co-starring with Gene Kelly, Mitz Gaynor and Taina Elia and doing her first singing and dancing since her early days in the theater.

At 12, she ran away from school in Scotland to seek an acting career in London. She toured in the chorus, played a variety act with her sister, did some films, entertained troops for two years in Berlin after the war.

Her film career started to take off with "Lady Godiva Rides Again" and she became a J. Arthur Rank star.

"I'm still under contract," she said. "I've been suspended so many times because I wanted to quit and do plays that I'm one of the veterans of the Rank list, along with Eric Portman and Flora Robson."

She probably won't have to exercise her escape to New York's clause, since Rex Harrison is coming here for a picture.

LAC Suggests Control Board
for Colleges

LITTLE ROCK (AP)

A Board of Control to tie together the state colleges in Arkansas and be "wholly divorced from politics" except for answering to the Legislature was suggested today by the Legislative Audit Committee.

A recommendation for such a board, which would "exercise the necessary degree of control over the whole system of higher education," was contained in the biennial report of the committee.

The Legislature, which convened today for a 90-day session, would be asked to set up the board.

The recommendation, one of eight contained in the report, said: "There does not now exist in Arkansas any agency staffed and equipped to exercise the necessary degree of control over the whole system of higher education. This is a function which obviously must be wholly divorced from politics with the exception that any control agency for public institutions must ultimately be answerable to the Legislature."

Other recommendations included:

1. A centralized accounting system for all divisions of the state Revenue Department. This would include a permanent register of tax and assignment knowing the name of the taxpayer, the name of the auditor assigned to the case, the date and the assessment determined by the division auditor.

2. Establishment of a review board to receive and approve tax settlements.

3. Changes in the white and Negro girls and boys Industrial schools. These changes call for construction of a new white Boys Industrial School on the grounds of the Negro Boys Industrial School at Wrightsville with an board to supervise both schools.

The state Girls Training School for white girls would be moved to a dormitory now used by the Boys Industrial Training School and the Negro Girls Training School, now located at Fargo, would be merged with the white school under one board.

4. Efforts to coordinate the food programs of colleges and other institutions with the penitentiary farm program.

5. Controls on the collection of patient maintenance accounts at Chiffon floats in for spring evenings in romantic dresses, the length short or long. Cecil Chapman does the long version (left) in shocking pink silk chiffon sheath with back-dipping skirt, low and round back neckline and back panel that trails gracefully. Adele Simpson does the short chiffon dance dress (right) in seafoam green silk chiffon with draped neckline and cummerbund.

It's a suit spring for 1957 and because there's such great variety in design, you may have your suit almost any way you like. The two versions here show the suit with easy lines. Beige and white shadow-checked silk-and-wool suit by Harry Frechtel (left) has slightly shaped jacket, worn with trouser-pleated skirt. From George Carmel comes (right) a beige silk-and-wool suit with double-breasted short box jacket. Collar is low, wide and flat.

DOROTHY DIX

Should Real Wife Tell
on Bigamist Husband?

Dear Dorothy Dix: Two years ago my husband left me. I haven't seen or heard from him since. I thought the world had ended, but I pulled myself together for my child's sake. I got out of the financial mess I was in and, in time, the wound healed the debts were paid, and my son and I were happy.

Now I have located my husband and find he has married. There never was a divorce, so he has committed bigamy, but I just can't bring myself to do anything about it. I certainly am not in love with him, but neither am I avenging. Should I tell, or keep quiet?

PEARL J.

Dear Pearl: It so happens that you are the only person involved — there's the second wife. You needn't make a public scandal over the affair, but the other woman deserves the consideration of knowing that her position is not legal. She undoubtedly married your husband in good faith, and he is in a position where he can walk out on her anytime. She at least should be told the truth.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a single man living in an apartment house. Next door lives a widow who is after me. She's always knocking things, asking the time, even inviting me to the theatre with tickets, she claims were given to her. As a friend, I like her, but that's absolutely as far as it goes with me. How can I get her off my neck?

PHIL P.

Dear Phil: You seem to be in a

the state Hospital for Nervous Diseases.

6. Income tax revisions to include more liberal deductions for medical expenses and persons with dependents.

7. Legislation directing state employees who received state money to give formal receipts or cash register receipts when stamps, permits, licenses, or other verification are not issued.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I met Vinnie via telephone, through a mutual friend. We arranged a meeting, had a date, then — blank! Vinnie never called, through he promised he would. Being in the Air Force, he traveled around quite a bit. I wrote him, he answered, vowing he loved me. He came home for Thanksgiving, we dated, and declared our mutual love. But since he went back, I haven't heard a word from him. Even over the Christmas holidays, he didn't get in touch with me.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've met my dreamboat — a boy from out of town who has a steady. He visits his aunt frequently, and whenever he's here, I make it my business to call on them. I'm told this will give a bad impression, but I don't see how.

Dear Gilda: You are making your own, unattached friends and let out-of-towners be.

Pace Moved,
British Judges
Declare

LONDON (UP) If a nude girl

free-wheels across a stage on a bicycle without pedaling can she? No, pouted 20-year-old Peaches Page, a British stripteaseur who has been doing just that at Collins Music Hall here.

Yes, ruled the sternest of Peaches. Under British law strippers must remain motionless after they have removed a certain amount of clothing. That makes "them" art studies' instead of strippers.

Peaches' manager, Sidney Algar, protested the rulings. "The movement, if there is any is only relative to the audience as though she were on a moving stage," he said.

"It's like the old Einstein problem, only not so boring," he added.

The council also ordered Peaches to wear more—more being a 2 1/2 inch wide brassiere made of flesh-colored net.

"It's so silly," said Peaches. "To wear a bra like this only draws more attention to the fact that I am nude."

Dear Pam: If one daughter can be given the entire care of an invalid parent, others are only too glad to turn their backs on the problem. As long as the "nurse" doesn't complain everyone else is secure. Such a burden should not be left to one person. You call occasional outing, at least. Call a family conference, tell your sisters and brother if some relief is not forthcoming, you'll have to put Mother in a nursing home — at their expense. Snap them out of their lethargy, by any means.

A DOCTOR for BLUE JAY COVE

By ELIZABETH SMITH

In this steady progression of days, and the busy-ness of those days, Alex was unhappy, while Cass was not. She took increased pleasure in the work she was doing in the part she was playing. She liked the authority which she had: she liked the crisp feeling of attending to so many things promptly, efficiently, and well. She liked the way she looked these days. Her tailored smart cottons were very becoming. At two o'clock she changed into a dark dress. When the days grew warm, she bought three dresses, all alike, of black linen. She could get duplicates of them in crepe for next winter. Black was always good she told herself. With pearls—

Her red hair and transparent skin were made for black. She was shocked when Alex spoke of her costume as a uniform.

"Why, Alex, I thought I looked—"

"You have other clothes. I remember from last summer. Don't you remember? Aunt Gordy used to disapprove of all those rusty, frilly petticoats. Are they worn but? If so, get some more. I don't like this thing of living with white uniforms all day, and coming home to black ones at night."

Cass said nothing. Marcy looked in concern from Alex to his wife.

After dinner, the younger girl took an opportunity to tell Cass that she'd better invest in some shorts and petticoats.

"I have them," said Cass shortly. "It's just that I don't believe they'd lend me any authority when I have to tell off the cook!"

Or give me any dignity before a new guest.

"Now," agreed Marcy, "but couldn't you wear something with a little authority and dignity, and yet not have it black?"

"Black is always good always except."

"It's nothing of the sort, and you know it! For instance, men don't like it—no on hair wives."

And then there was Marcy, too. All summer, ever since Marcy had returned to the Haven, Cass had been thinking that "someone should help that girl straighten out her life." Alex had suggested perhaps that someone would have to be Cass. Certainly the girl's happiness would make a life worth while.

Marcy came to Cass for decisions of all sorts.

"Cass, should I give Donald Meyer a date?"

"He's a nice chap, I hear."

"Oh, he's all right. But he's been steady-dating Joyce Bratton—did, I mean, before he went to the Naval Academy."

"That was 18 months ago."

"That's right."

"If he asked you he must want your company. On the other hand—"

"Yes. He'll go back to Annapolis next month, and I'll have to go on living here in Blue Jay Cove."

"Can't you fix up a double-date? You know so many men."

"You're a genius!" she told her sister-in-law.

Marcy asked her advice on make-up. She came to her in genuine concern about the talk which Mrs. Meyer was spreading in town. "Why doesn't she concentrate on Donald? He was the one who wanted to go dancing with me—a married woman on the loose!"

"Marcy!" Cass looked up from the towels which she was examining.

"If I understand that was her term," said Marcy, throwing herself into a chair, and elevating her brown legs. "And she's right to some extent. I have been married—and I am on the loose. But I don't believe a date or two with her precious boy gives that happy right to spread gossip about my marriage. For one item, she doesn't know a thing about it."

Cass sighed. "Maybe," she began.

Marcy sat up, straight, snapping her sundal soles upon the floor. "No!" she said clearly. "It was a filthy mess! But it wasn't any of their business. Can't we leave it at that?"

Cass was afraid not. But she had not yet spoken when Marcy got to her feet and began walking to hang down the hall.

"I think I'll get me a job," she announced. "I need cash, money, of course. And I have too much time on my hands. I do too many things to upset people. I'm free to swim—Did you see Marcy Ward's bathing suit? I play golf—Really, one couldn't be sure if Marcy had on any shorts under that skirt!"—and I'm able to dance all night—There isn't anything that girl won't try on the dance floor!"

"You could have a job right here at the Haven," Cass said quietly. "I need some help—keeping time records, entering all the tax data, writing letters. You could, for instance, check the rest of those towels. I should take inventory more often than I do."

Then she glanced up, and saw that the girl's head was wagging from side to side.

"I'd be in the house too much. Into things. Besides, Aunt Cordy

Animals Help Science Seek Cancer Cause

By RENNIE TAYLOR

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Parakeets with huge brain tumors and catfish with cancer of the lip may help medical science to learn more about the cause of malignancy.

And the absence of cancer in some animals is as striking as its presence in others, a researcher from Ohio State University reported today.

Cow udders are singularly free of cancer despite the fact that they are subjected to alternate periods of swelling and dryness, and to injuries from milking. But in humans, and mice, breast cancer is common. Canaries seldom develop as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Quilman Steed and Mrs. Ted McGough.

Mrs. Burke Shelton has returned from several weeks visit with her daughters in Nashville, Tenn., and Little Rock.

James Roy Peachey has reported to his new assignment at Ft. Polk, La., after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peachey.

Friends of Mrs. John Brown will be glad to know she is recovering from a major operation performed at the Cora Donnell Hospital and has been moved to the home of her son, Roy Brown and family.

J. B. Ritchie returned from Denver, Colorado where he attended an executive committee meeting of county and rural area superintendents.

Mrs. Dudley Rouse and Mrs. Dale Ledbetter were Wednesday visitors in Texarkana.

malignancy, but one out of every seven chickens as a cancer of tumor.

Somewhere in this puzzling picture there must be clues to the origin of malignancy, Dr. Hans G. Schlumberger told a seminar sponsored by the Arizona division of the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Schlumberger could offer no theories to explain the strange findings which he has made in several years of research.

Parakeets develop many tumors of the pituitary gland, the tiny organ at the base of the body. Some of these growths become so large that they almost crowd the brain out of the skull and cause the eyes to bulge from their sockets, the researcher reported.

The prevalence of lip cancer in catfish may mean that there is a cancer-causing chemical in the rivers where they live, Dr. Schlumberger said. But no such chemical has been found so far.

Cancer in chickens and other meat animals is no hazard to humans who consume them, he said, since a cancerous chicken cell is destroyed by the human digestive system if not killed by the heat of cooking.

Plunging Priest Considering U. S.

PARIS, (UP)—France's famous "plunging priest" said today he would like to make a high-diving tour of the United States to repeat the stunt that netted his favorite charity $420.

An estimated 1,500 persons paid 28 cents each Saturday to watch Father Robert Simon dive from a 100-foot platform into the icy Marne river.

The 45-year-old Roman Catholic priest has made 44 similar dives and has rebuilt two churches with the proceeds. Two other divers in recent months have tried the plunge. One was killed instantly.

Increased advertisement and the "finders keepers" program has placed the Crater of Diamonds in Pike County at the top of the private tourist attractions.

$50,000 USC Offer to Wyatt Denied

MEMPHIS — The University of Southern California reportedly offered a $50,000 a year, 10-year contract to Tennessee football coach Bowden Wyatt.

Wyatt, a former sports editor of the Commercial Appeal, said Wyatt turned down the offer because he felt his relations with the University of Tennessee and U-T traditions are worth more than an increased pay check.

Stewart said he learned the details of the USC offer from a reliable "other source" after hearing Wyatt say at a banquet that he liked coaching at his alma mater so much he had turned down a post offering twice the pay.

Wyatt who declined comment on the reported USC offer, was the main speaker at a dinner-dance Saturday night for All Memphis

Ferrer, Audrey to Appear on 'Showcase'

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK 13 — It is good TV news that Audrey Hepburn and her husband, Mel Ferrer, will make their TV debut on "Producers' Showcase" (NBC-TV) Feb. 4 starring in the leading roles of "Mayerling."

They are as charming and articulate a young couple as you will find in a day of interviewing actors and actresses, returning to America after a long period of movie-making in Europe, they express fascination with TV.

"I'm a little nervous," Miss Hepburn said at lunch the other day. "In live television there's certainly no chance of a re-take. A scene doesn't go just right. There you are in front of 50 million people or whatever number it's supposed to be who are watching the show. If something goes wrong — Well!" She shrugged eloquently.

"Perhaps we haven't watched enough television," said Ferrer. He smiled suddenly. "Or perhaps we've watched too much. The night we checked into the hotel here after a little vacation in California we turned on the TV set—to a live drama. A scene was building and suddenly an actor couldn't remember his line. Maybe many people thought it was a mistake, but I said, 'Let's turn that thing off.' I said to Audrey, 'and not look at it again.' Industry sources say that TV

Hogs Practically Out of Flag Race; Meet Texas

By the Associated Press
The Arkansas Razorbacks, after two consecutive Southwest Conference basketball defeats, try to get back in the win column at Fayetteville tonight against the Texas Longhorns.

The Porkers, like the Texans, have a 1-2 mark in conference play.

Southern Methodist faces a major hurdle in its race toward a third consecutive Southwest title when the Mustangs meet Rice tomorrow at Dallas.

The Owls, undefeated in conference play, lead the league in both season and championship standings. Rice, however, has moved to second in both races.

The Owls whipped Arkansas 78-61 and Texas 76-66 last week for an 11-5 season record and 3-1 in the conference. SMU 13-1 for the season and 3-0 in league play, downed Texas A&M 62-53 and Texas Christian 79-67.

Jim Krebs, as usual, was the big man in the Mustang offensive. Krebs led his season scoring lead with 344 points and moved to second in conference scoring with 70.

Ray Downs of Texas is second in all games with 134 points while Temple Tucker of Rice the main reason the Owls are crowding the Porkers—leads in conference scoring with 70 points.

SMU leads in season scoring with 1,123 points and has allowed the fewest, 788. Rice is second in season scoring with 1,076 points.

The Owls lead in conference scoring with 257 points followed by Texas with 227.

Baylor is third in the title race with a 2-1 record and TCU, Arkansas and Texas are tied with 1-2 marks. Texas A&M is the only team without a conference victory.

SMU and Rice meet at Dallas and Texas A&M tries Baylor at Waco Tuesday. Friday it's SMU vs. Texas at Austin.

Saturday CU plays Oklahoma City University at Fort Worth and Baylor visits Rice at Houston.

Other games last week saw Texas nip Texas Christian 85-76 and Baylor squeak by Arkansas 52-51.

The season scoring race stands this way: Krebs, 344; Downs, 314; Dick O'Neal, CU 287; Tucker 246 and George Mehaffey A&M 225, tied with Mehaffey is Jerry Mellett of Baylor.

The conference scoring looked this way: Tucker, 79; Krebs, 70; Mallet, 67 Downs 66 and Dick O'Neal 61.

Field Goals Give West Pro Victory

By BOB MYERS
LOS ANGELES 13 — The large foot of bit Berri Reelicher of the Baltimore Colts is the reason the West now holds a 4-3 edge over the East in the annual Pro Bowl game.

Four times the former halfback from Tennessee tried for field goals and made them.

The ball traveled for distances of 52, 44, 44 and 41 yards.

The 12 points from the field goals, coupled with one touchdown and conversion was more than enough to give the West a 19-10 victory over the East in the post-season battle between the hand-picked squads of the Western and Eastern conference of the National Football League.

The East's Sam Baker of the Washington Redskins contributed a precious one himself, also for 52 yards.

The 44-17 fans also saw a spectacular 79-yard pass play executed by Green Bay's Tobin Roar and Billy Howlin, with the Chicago cars' Harlon Hills and wadded in between.

They saw a dangerous Ollie Matson, Frank Gifford, Hugh McPherson, Rick Casares all on the offensive platoons, and as badly a defensive duo as there is in pro football, Jack Christiansen and Jim David of the Detroit Lions.

There were six fumbles three to a side, but they came from aggressive tactics, not sloppy performance.

The first fumble led to a quick West touchdown. Los Angeles Ram Ray Miller hit Matson so hard he lost the ball and Detroit's Joe Schmidt recovered on the East 12. Casares hit for seven and four and his Beat teammate Ed Brown added the final yard.

The East tried it in the second driving 40 yards in seven plays. From then on the field goal specialists took over the scoring.

Hepburn said at lunch the other day. "In live television there's certainly no chance of a re-take. A scene doesn't go just right. There you are in front of 50 million people or whatever number it's supposed to be who are watching the show. If something goes wrong — Well!" She shrugged eloquently.

"Perhaps we haven't watched enough television," said Ferrer. He smiled suddenly. "Or perhaps we've watched too much. The night we checked into the hotel here after a little vacation in California we turned on the TV set—to a live drama. A scene was building and suddenly an actor couldn't remember his line. Maybe many people thought it was a mistake, but I said, 'Let's turn that thing off.' I said to Audrey, 'and not look at it again.' Industry sources say that TV

Hope Opens New Gym by Splitting Pair With Nashville

TOP LEFT — Betty Powell comes down the court with the ball screened by Jan Robinson, who is knocked over by two Nashville girls. The locals lost 17, the Howard county team in a thriller Friday night, 21 to 15. As the score-board shows, Hope was trailing, 12 to 20 at this moment.

TOP RIGHT — Alice Burke leaves the enemy goal with a fast dribble toward home territory. Behind her is Linda Rabelf. At front right is Peggy Harper of Nashville, and behind Peggy is another Nashville girl, Mary Shannon.

BOTTOM RIGHT — In the advance Gymnasium Edition of January 10 The Star published Mrs. Lu. H. Higgs' old picture of the first Hope basketball team, 1908-1909, which, however, included only part of the players. Friday night the program committee used up as many of the old photos as were available, and this 1937 picture was the result. Left to right: John P. Vesey, Elmer Murph, Harvey B. Aycock, Ray Duffie, and Terrill Cornelius.

The picture at top left is a 35-mm. shot without flash. All the others were made with The Star's new, top speed Graphic camera and Accorlight electronic flash, using a permanent light tube instead of a bulb. Purchased in St. Louis January 2 the new Graphic outfit stops fast action with an exposure of a second — fast enough to "freeze" a bullet fired from one of the slower guns.

Mother Leaves Four Children for Lover

NEW YORK — Four children are in a welfare home today, abandoned in a church by their mother, who said she was "going away with the man I love."

Police identified the mother as 32-year-old Mrs. Eleanor Hyatt, who had been separated from her husband and was living on relief. She left the children Saturday night, along with a note, in the back pew of the Roman Catholic Church of Christ the King in Queens.

The note, signed by a "heart-broken mother," told of being "kicked around all my life" and said she was "going away with the man I love . . . and get a divorce and get married."

The scribbled note, found tucked in the pocket of her eldest child, Joseph, 6, promised:

"I will return for my children in about one year. I've not abandoned my children. I want them back as soon as they can have a good home like other children. . . . Please try to keep them from getting separated. I love them very much. . . ."

Abandoned along with Joseph were James 5, Carol 3, and Mark 2.

The Arkansas State Bar Association was organized at Little Rock, March 15, 1892.

LONDON — Soviet Communist leader Nikita Khrushchev attacking President Eisenhower on his plan for guarding peace in the Middle East.

TOKYO — Akiko Kogori, 16-year-old maid, writing in her notebook before throwing acid in the face of 18-year-old Hiori Misoi, one of Japan's top songstresses:

"She is really beautiful. How I wish I could turn her into an ugly girl. I can no longer stand her pretty face."

WASHINGTON — Anthony Nutting, former British minister of state, praising President Eisenhower's new Middle East doctrine as "a good first step."

"Once again someone has gone it alone."

SAN ANGELO, Tex. — Mrs. Andrew Braden, an elderly farm wife, awaiting President Eisenhower's visit to the Southwest drought disaster area:

"I hope he doesn't go by so fast we can't see him."

WASHINGTON — House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack warning President Eisenhower against inviting Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia to visit the United States:

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Julie Hagedous, 20, looking at an electric toaster she received at her wedding to Joseph Nocht 26, with whom she recently escaped from Hungary:

"I am not in favor of letting the Milton Eisenhowers, the Hoffmans and the Stassens decide when and where we should fight."

Dewey Takes Case for Show Producers

NEW YORK — Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will represent the producer of the Broadway hit "My Fair Lady" in a squabble over a vacation replacement for Rex Harrison, male star of the musical.

The dispute centers on the Actors Equity Association objection to assignment of the role of Prof. Higgins to Irish actor Edward Mulhare.

Actors Equity, a union of performing artists, bases its opposition on the ground that Mulhare is an alien and has no unique talent for the role.

The show's producer, Herman Levin, in announcing yesterday the retention of Dewey, now a Manhattan lawyer, said the former New York governor would handle "any action that may result" from Mulhare's hiring.

A spokesman for Levin meanwhile, termed as "spectacularly unlikely" reports that Dewey would receive a fee of $50,000.

Harrison leaves the show Feb. 4 to begin a four-week vacation. Levin said he hired Mulhare "after a year's search, in which we auditioned dozens of players." Mulhare is due to begin rehearsing for the role either today or tomorrow, Levin said.

An Equity official voiced immediate opposition to the rehearsal plan, contending Mulhare's contract has not been registered with Equity. Also, said the official, no member of the "My Fair Lady" cast would be permitted to rehearse with Mulhare because of his "uncertain status."

Actors Equity contends that while Harrison is a British subject his replacement would have to be either an Equity member or foreign player of equal rank.

The first state legislature assembled in the Old State Capitol September 12, 1836.
